Description :

PDF-ad98e | At the age of 44, literally out of the blue, I decided to sew a doll because I felt that the black dolls on the internet lacked feminine, sensuality or looked like white dolls covered in brown paint. Many of the African American dolls had Aunt Jemima rags on their heads and distorted facial features. I thought no, no, no-- this is not an accurate representation of black women in America; we are s... Black Dolls Like Me: The Soul of an African American Fabric Artist
